THE HOUSE OF STUART RESTORED: HM KING BRUCE II, KING OF SCOTS, PROCLAIMS SCOTTISH INDEPENDENCE AND ANNOUNCES HISTORIC ROYAL RESTORATION

Global Broadcast Dossier Released, Featuring an Exclusive Interview, a Historic Address to Sovereign States, and the First Official Public Declaration of Royal Recognition.

Scotland – September 2026 —

In an unprecedented constitutional and dynastic event, His Majesty King Bruce II, King of Scots, has formally declared the restoration of the royal House of Stuart and the immediate independence of the Kingdom of Scotland, bringing a conclusion to three centuries of British political rule under the Act of Union 1707.

In a landmark broadcast released to global media outlets today, HM King Bruce II, King of Scots—direct blood descendant of King Robert the Bruce and Mary, Queen of Scots—presents his vision for a modern, sovereign Scottish monarchy. Crucially, through this historic interview, His Majesty verbally disclosed for the first time to the global public the existence of private state audiences with the late Queen Elizabeth II in 2019, alongside court-ordered genetic (DNA) evidence that irrefutably verifies his Stuart lineage.

Distributed to international press and diplomatic missions, this official state broadcast is structured as a strategic diplomatic media dossier. It encompasses a comprehensive interview illuminating the historical and legal background, His Majesty's official Sovereign Address to world leaders and the Scottish Nation, and a formal diplomatic introduction to this historic milestone. For the sake of international transparency, certified transcripts of all broadcasts have been translated into major world languages and made available to global news agencies.

Key Declarations & Highlights from the Official Release:

- Declaration of Sovereign Statehood: HM King Bruce II, King of Scots, asserts that the 1707 Act of Union between England and Scotland was an international treaty between two sovereign nations whose fundamental covenants have been breached, lawfully restoring Scotland's status as an independent Kingdom under international public law.
- Recognition by the Late Sovereign: His Majesty announced that formal contact initiated by the late Queen Elizabeth II in 2019 culminated in private state conversations and scientific (DNA) verification of his lineage. The King explicitly stated that these unreleased historical recordings and scientific proofs are securely held, serving as undeniable verification of his royal bloodline.
- A New Constitutional Monarchy: Rejecting absolute rule and foreign allegiance, King Bruce II announced that Scottish public officials and parliamentarians will no longer swear allegiance to a foreign Crown, but directly to the Crown of Scotland and its people, establishing the Crown as the absolute constitutional shield of public liberty.

THE ROYAL HOUSE OF STUART

- Re-establishment of the Scottish House of Lords: His Majesty has called upon the historic Clans of Scotland to convene and select their representative Lords in order to restore the Scottish House of Lords under the House of Stuart.
- Diplomatic Notices Served: Formal diplomatic instruments and notices of statehood have been officially transmitted to world leaders, the United Nations Security Council, the Holy See, and international judicial tribunals.
- Direct Appeal to King Charles III: In a personal and dignified address to his cousin, King Charles III, HM King Bruce II, King of Scots, called for a peaceful, diplomatic transition, respecting the memory of Queen Elizabeth II and the sovereign will of the Scottish people.

Excerpts from the Historic Address by HM King Bruce II, King of Scots:

"I don't claim the throne. It is already mine, and it belongs to the people of Scotland. Our Crown will be the shield of our people's freedom. Under our reign, this ends: no leader you elect will ever bow to a foreign throne. From now on, every public servant will promise total loyalty to the people of Scotland alone."

"We do not need permission from London for our freedom... We choose peace, and we expect the same in return. The right to self-rule never dies. We are not inventing a new country—we are restoring our Kingdom."
